

MORNING - EVENING - SUNDAY

WINSTON-SALEM JOURNAL      TWIN CITY SENTINEL

JOURNAL AND SENTINEL

COVER WINSTON-SALEM AND NORTHWESTERN NORTH CAROLINA

SANTFORD MARTIN, EDITOR

OWEN MOON, PUBLISHER

WILLIAM K. HOYT, MANAGER

Winston-Salem, North Carolina
July 28, 1934.

Mr. W. L. Spoon,
Burlington, N. C.

My dear Mr. Spoon:

You will find herewith
several editorial clippings in which you might be interested.

I was up at the mountain a few nights
ago and found the delightful southwest breeze so much of a contrast to the humid, almost tropical temperature below,
that I was moved to write the little squib as an editorial comment.

It isn't exactly an "advertisement" for the mountain; however, maybe it will cause a few people to stop and think of the mountain as a good place for a day's outing, or, it is remotely possible that someone with real money may take it seriously
and make you and offer for hotel rights!
Who knows?

Most sincerely yours,

Harvey Dinkins

Harvey Dinkins
Reporter on The Sentinel