Asked by Page whether he had been indicted as charged, Sullivan replied that he had been indicted, tried and acquitted. The trial, Sullivan said, was in connection with the tax returns of John Hanby and was extended over a period of 10 days when both he and Hanby were acquitted of every charge.

Page said that his objection to the appointment of Sullivan was not personal, as he had never seen him before, but that he wanted no grounds for complaint when the audit was completed.

Sullivan stated that he is a certified public accountant and a licensed lawyer and that for a long period of years he has audited the Butters Lumber Company books.

The commissioners agreed to pay Sullivan $10 per day for his services and his expenses.

Page told The Journal after the meeting that he had filed an bbjection to Sullivan's appointment with W. E. Easterling, executive secretary of the Local Government Commission, until further investigation can be made.

Conducted By Dr. Pringle and Rotarian Carter; Christmas Customs Noted

The Elizabethtown Rotary club and a very interesting and unique program on Tuesday evening. Dr. J. M. Pringle, program chairman, assisted by Rotarian Oliver Carter, gave interesting bits of information relative to the observance of Christmas in many lands.

Slips of paper with bits of information about Christmas and Christmas customs were hid in various places in the room and at intervals various club members were called upon to read the slips.

Slips were hidden among the flowers, under the table cloths, inside the Christmas tree and at other ed. intricate places, causing much mer-riment as the treasure hunt was in progress. Dr. Pringle is chairman of International service, and the unique program was well received.

John Cross, president, presided. isitors were: George W. Fisher, Visitors Jr., and Mrs. Oliver Carter.

Greene Brothers Lumber Com- stories is de pany Given Nice Pubilicity In Magazine

The December issue of The Esso Oilways, a magazine published by the Standard Oil Company and circulated throughout the world, car-ried a four-page feature article on the Greene Brothers Lumber Company, whose main plant is located at Elizabethtown.

The article, titled "Greene Gold," carried a concise revue of the Greene Brothers since they started in the lumber business and gave a view of just how the Greenes manufacture lumber.

Six beautiful, clear pictures of the mill in operation were contained in the article. The pictures were taken by Ben Greene and all are unusually good.

Th Greenes came to Elizabethtown in 1933, the article said, and after purchasing a 12,000 acre tract, began cutting trees in Colly Swamp that "averaged 550 years in age." The article also dealt with the technical side of the plant and the average output. However, the best thing in the entire magazine was the pictures of the mill and surrounding operations. They are on par with the best professional cam-
